MESSAGE FROM TOWN MANAGER, BILL ZELL

The North Carolina annexation law, which was established in 1959, and has served tarheel citizens well for all these years, has come under some feverish scrutiny the last several legislative sessions.

Under the law a municipality can use three methods of annexation to add property to their town limits. They are involuntary, voluntary, and legislative. Each process is strictly governed by state statute.

The easiest method to administer is voluntary annexation. This is where a property owner determines a need for services from the nearby municipality and submits a petition to be considered. A cost of adding these services is determined by the Town and if it is found to be beneficial to the Town then the petition is granted by the Board of Commissioners.

The next easiest method is the legislative process. This process is used when the size of the parcels of land or the composition of development don't meet the standards of the annexation law. In a case like this the municipality or property owners contact their state representatives and have them present a local bill to have the specific area brought into town. The only time this would be used is when all the property owners involved and the municipality agree. There can be no controversy involved or this method won't work. A recent example of this type of annexation was in 2009 when Aberdeen annexed the Midway Community.

The third method and the most costly to the municipality is the involuntary annexation process. The biggest issue with this method is that property owners feel that they are being forced to do something they don't want to do. Because of that issue if a municipality does not follow the annexation law specifically the whole process can be voided if challenged.

The process for an involuntary annexation includes all of the following; resolution of consideration (ROC), resolution of intent (ROI), annexation report, public notification, public information meeting, public hearing, and finally the adoption of the annexation ordinance.

The ROC, is an on going document that is annually updated with a list of any and all potential properties to be annexed. The ROC doesn't have to be specific, whereas the ROI on the other hand has to be explicitly detailed. The ROI will list the exact properties that the municipality has determined meets all the criteria for annexing. The ROI is then adopted by the Board of Commissioners and then the clock begins on the annexation process. The annexation report, which includes the description of each property under consideration, includes metes and bounds information. The annexation report also includes the cost to the municipality to provide services and the estimated revenue the property will generate. This report is approved and then the public notification letters are sent to all affected property owners. The next step is the public information meeting where potential property owners can come and have all their questions answered regarding the annexation. The public hearing is then held where the municipality's Board or Council will listen to public input regarding the proposed annexed properties. The last step in the annexation process is then for the Board to adopt the annexation resolution with a specific effective date for the annexation to take effect.

The following are the main reasons why the Town of Aberdeen uses the annexation tool that we are allowed by state statute:

- Fill in donut holes within areas receiving services
- Gain control over land uses
- Even out rough edges of Town Limits
- Fiscal purposes
- Provide municipal services to property currently out of town upon request
- To ensure that the residents of our town do not have to pay for services being used by someone out of town that does not pay municipal taxes.

2010 SEWER COLLECTION SYSTEM PERFORMANCE REPORT

Overall the Town of Aberdeen's system performance is good. The main problems consist of root and grease. Inflow and infiltration is another concern. The Public Works Department is currently replacing old lines, video taping other trouble areas, sealing older manholes, and adding inflow covers below the manhole lids.

2010 Monthly Violations of Permit Conditions or other Environmental Regulations

MESSAGE FROM THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

As spring unwinds and summer approaches most of us look forward to spending a lot more time outside and going places. The weather is nice, and we want to take our most faithful companions with us. No, I am not talking about our spouses and children, I am talking about the ones that don't moan, groan, gripe, and complain when we have to make that "one" more stop - it's the family pet.

We love our pets and we want to offer them a change of pace and give them the chance to go with us.

We have to be careful when taking our pets out. Remember that pets can't go into every store, not all businesses are pet friendly. When you take your pets, plan your outing with your pets in mind and limit travel to those places that do welcome our four legged companions. Remember when a car is closed up on a hot day it is no place for any person or animal.

Davis Instruments did a study in 2002 on how hot it can get in parked cars. Does this really sound like something you want to put your pet through? The following are some of the results from the study:

- On a day when the outside temperature was 73° Fahrenheit, it took only 20 minutes for the temperature sensor inside the car to reach a lethal level of 107° Fahrenheit.
- On a day when the outside temperature was 86° Fahrenheit, it took only 10 minutes for the temperature sensor inside the car in the shade to reach a lethal level of 109° Fahrenheit.
- On a day when the outside temperature was 86° Fahrenheit, it took only 5 minutes for the temperature sensor inside the car placed in direct sunlight to reach 132° Fahrenheit.

Cruelty to animals is a crime in North Carolina that is charged by the Aberdeen Police Department and prosecuted by the Moore County District Attorney's office. Leaving your animal in a closed car on a hot day is considered to be cruelty to animals and the state statute will be enforced.

Enjoy the warm weather but take the necessary steps to protect the members of your family that have no voice. Plan your trips to pet friendly locations or travel with another person and leave them in the car with the pets to make sure that the A/C stays on while you are out of the car.

MESSAGE FROM THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Spring is upon us and summer is moving in fast. We'd like to take a moment to remind you to discuss and practice escape plans with your family. In the event of a fire, remember time is the biggest enemy and every second counts! Make it a routine to practice a home escape plan frequently with your family.

Develop a home fire escape plan and designate a meeting place outside. Make sure everyone in the family knows two ways to escape from every room. Practice feeling your way out with your eyes closed or blindfolded. This is a great activity that is fun for children, because they are learning at the same time. Remember to never stand up in a fire, always crawl low under the smoke and try to keep your mouth covered. Never return to a burning building for any reason; it may cost you your life. Practice your escape plans during the day and at night. The better you and your family know how to escape, the better your chances are in the event of a real fire.

IMPORTANT WATER BILLING INFORMATION

According to the Town of Aberdeen's Water Billing Policy:

- Failure to receive your bill in the mail does not excuse responsibility for timely payment or prevent service discontinuance.
- The Town of Aberdeen will not be responsible for late or delayed deliveries by the USPS.
- Service not paid in full on date of cut off will receive a $25.00 penalty when the cut off list is generated by the computer NOT when the water is actually cut off for non-payment.

SPECIAL NOTICE CONCERNING RAILROAD CROSSINGS IN ABERDEEN

Starting in May and into June, the CSX Railroad will be replacing rails through the Aberdeen area. Since these new rails, called ribbon rails, are solid with no connecting joints there will be times when all 4 crossings to include Midway Crossing at Sycamore and Midway Road, Maple Street, Main Street and South Street will be closed all at one time.

They will replace one side for 6 miles and will come back and replace the other side until the last rail is installed.

Each crossing will be rough to cross with only graveled areas at times. Unless you want to chance that the crossings will be open we suggest until this project is completed you should use NC 211 to 15-501 back to US1 or using Bethesda Rd. and Saunders Blvd. back to US 1.

YARD SALE PERMITS

Getting rid of old stuff? Many members of the community will want to hold a yard sale to get rid of old stuff. Yard Sale Permits can be obtained at the Water Department. Each Town of Aberdeen resident is allowed 2 yard sales per year and must fill out a Yard Sale Permit and pay a $5.00 fee.
